Public Affairs Specialist (Senior Web Analyst) GS-1035-13

Introduction

The public affairs specialist functions as a senior web analyst in the Web Communications Section of the Office of External Communications, reporting to the Web Communications Section Chief.

The major duties are the creation, review and analysis of content for the EPA website. The specialist is an expert at using web technologies to resolve communication challenges. The specialist is responsible for ensuring that materials are well written, accurate and communicate effectively with the intended audiences. The specialist also identifies "gaps" in the website where content should be created or updated and assists members of the public and others in finding the information they need. The specialist is active in the development of policies, plans and procedures for the management of the website.

Duties and Responsibilities

Web planning and management

Incumbent works closely with the supervisor to manage the web product development process and associated activities. Coordinates web product development plans and schedules, and advises Agency staff on product planning, development, design and implementation. Prepares process marketing and outreach efforts and ensures a smooth, consistent and transparent product development process. Provides direction and assistance to program division staff assigned to develop products for web and electronic information delivery. Reviews final products for adherence to Agency web policies, procedures and guidelines.

Assists in developing annual and long-range plans to realize the web and electronic product development components of the Agency's strategic goals for information technology, communication and customer service and provides project management and leadership for activities that are part of these plans. Provides insight into "best practices" for web and electronic information product development based on research and analysis of these practices in and out of government. Supports the Region in developing new web product development and web project management policies, procedures and guidelines as needed. Serves as an advocate for web product development and web project management techniques and best practices.

Evaluates the impact and effectiveness of Web communication plans and advises management when efforts should be discontinued, emphasis changed, or coverage expanded in improving communication between EPA and various audiences. The incumbent analyzes, develops and presents alternative approaches in developing web-communication strategies for EPA policies or programs. The analyst carries out studies on how people use EPA web pages, what kind of information they are looking for, and makes recommendations for improving web page content and architecture.

Web Editing

Identifies and updates or deletes out-of-date and inaccurate web content in accordance with Agency and regional procedures and policies. Helps develop new procedures for ensuring the quality and timeliness of content on the EPA website.

Translates print and electronic documents into formats suitable for web-based presentation. Edits and proofreads content to ensure that all information posted is accurate and in conformity with agency editorial standards and guidelines. Performs image manipulation tasks such as creating thumbnails, file format conversion and simple image edits.

Solves communication problems in presenting complex or controversial information on the Web. This may involve developing new approaches or sources of information. Plans and completes assignments subject to established Agency objectives, interprets policy, and analyzes and interprets the information gathered.

Organizes the content of the web products to ensure it is audience friendly and that the website is easy to use. The Web Editor uses his/her expertise to analyze, interpret and integrate information in a variety of web formats. Ensures appropriate coordination with all affected offices, including the Region 5 Public Affairs Section in the Office of External Communications.

Web page creation and maintenance

Analyzes both the subject and audience to present even the most complex or controversial topics interestingly, clearly, accurately and thoroughly.

Gathers information from multiple sources and revises, edits, and integrates it to create concise web pages. This includes photos and other graphics, maps and video, as appropriate. Determines layout and design of documents and web pages using web development software.

Prepares initial drafts for review by appropriate regional legal, technical and public affairs staff to ensure accuracy, effective communication and suitability for release. Writes and edits segues and other content, as needed. Ensures content is written in an appropriate style and tone for the audience it serves. Finished content meets all Agency requirements, including those for plain language, accessibility and metadata.

Uses web development software to create and post HTML, PDF and other files.

Advises on web development and page maintenance issues

The incumbent provides advice and guidance to management and staff on resolving web development problems. Consults with managers and staff to analyze their needs and propose ways to use the web to do their work. Recommends innovative and creative approaches and anticipates public and media reaction.

The incumbent participates in Agency-wide web groups and projects, including serving as backup to the Web Communications Section Chief on the EPA Web Council. Ensures that management is kept apprised of topics being discussed and decisions being made, helps formulate Regional comments and positions, and ensures that the Region's point-of-view is heard.

Marketing, Outreach and Customer Service

Seeks opportunities to promote the Agency's web products to all appropriate audiences.

Trains Agency staff so they can use the web products effectively and so they can help the public, partners and press use the products, as well

Serves as point of contact for website queries by EPA staff and the general public. Reaches out to audience groups to get feedback on the Agency's web products through focus groups, surveys and other means; and uses the feedback to improve the content of the web products.

Prepares for and responds to emergencies as needed

This includes completing incident command system training and participating in scheduled exercises. In times of disaster or crisis, may be asked to deploy for multiple weeks or provide support from the Region's emergency operation center or other location. Acts as an assistant public information officer in joint information centers or other multi-agency responses. Registers in the Response Support Corps database. May be required to travel to an emergency on short notice, including on weekends or after hours.

Factor Level Description

Factor 1: Knowledge Required

Level 1-8, 1550 points

Mastery of the principles, methods, practices and techniques of communication that enable the Senior Web Analyst to function as a technical authority within the Region. Knowledge and understanding of Web development tools and practices necessary for the development of professional, effective information materials and for assisting other staff in development of the same.

Ability to plan, organize, and direct workgroups and to negotiate effectively with management to accept and implement recommendations, where the proposals involve substantial Agency resources or require extensive changes in established procedures.

Knowledge of the functional components of the Region, Headquarters, States and local agencies to effectively respond to public inquiries. Knowledge of the range of environmental and administrative laws, policies, regulations, and precedents. Knowledge of agency and government-wide policies governing the development of Web and other outreach materials.

Ability to review and analyze information in order to determine trends and make recommendations. Ability to review and evaluate information and provide clear, constructive feedback to address customer needs to allow for further processing and implementation. Skill in establishing and maintaining working relationships with a variety of customers.

Knowledge, skill, and ability for producing, building and maintaining a website. Ability to communicate effectively via the web and organize information based on identified audience. Skill in writing to communicate clearly to a variety of audiences, both internal and external.

Factor 2: Supervisory Controls

Level 2-4, 450 points

The incumbent reports to the Supervisor of the Web Communications Section in the Office of External Communications. The supervisor provides administrative direction to the employee by making assignments in terms of broadly defined mission or functions. Specific assignments may stem from the Web Analyst's contacts. The incumbent is responsible for planning, designing and carrying out assigned web communications activities, projects, studies and other major program functions. Keeps the supervisor informed of progress as deemed appropriate. When work is reviewed, the review generally concerns such broad matters as fulfillment of program objectives or the effect of the incumbent's advice in facilitating achievement of the program objectives.

Factor 3: Guidelines

Level 3-4, 450 points

Guidelines are agency policy statements and broad precedents and are applicable in establishing a general program direction and setting a tone, but not sufficient for dealing with complex, intricate and unusual situations, issues and problems encountered on a recurring basis. The incumbent must deviate from standard approaches in developing effective ways to communicate the agency message on controversial and sensitive issues.

There is a fair amount of clear, specific written Web governance in the form of policies, standards, and guidance online. If there is a gap, the incumbent will work with Agency Web groups to address it. This may involve setting local policies as needed in consultation with the incumbent's supervisor.

Factor 4: Complexity

4 225 Level 4-8, 325 points

Complexity involves the application of advanced communication and analytical skills to evaluate and advise top management officials of information that should be made available to address potential public reaction. This involves conveying information orally and in writing in order to impart factual information in a clear, understandable manner designed to achieve understanding.

Factor 5: Scope and Effect

4 225 evel 5-8, 325 points

The incumbent develops alternative means of providing information to enhance Agency program efforts and to assist in communicating with various Agency publics.

Factor 6: Personal Contacts

Level 6-3, 60 points

Contacts occur on a non-routine basis and involve meaningful exchanges of views and information. Contacts include other government agencies and across the federal government on web issues. Contacts are across the Agency and outside the Agency, public interest groups, the academic and business community.

Factor 7: Purpose of Contacts

Level 7-3, 120 points

The purpose of the contacts is to analyze, develop and present alternative approaches in developing web communication strategies for EPA policies or programs; or to present information on EPA activities or policies to specialized groups and the general public. The purpose is to share information, compare best practices, provide feedback for one another, and leverage expertise, training and resources.

Factor 8: Physical Demands

The work is basically sedentary.

Factor 9: Work Environment

The work is performed in an office setting.
